Over 200 Moonshine Stills Said To Be Working In Madison

Southeastern Part of County Said To Be Thick With 'Em and Some Have Solicitors Working at the Crossroads

That there are over 200 stills in Madison county in which moonshine whisky is made was the assertion made here the other day after a trial in police court by a man who seemed to know whereof he spoke.

Another remarked that it has become practically impossible to hunt birds in the southeastern section of the county. He said a hunter will be stopped by most anyone with a hand up and "keep off" admonition.

A third man who made a trip down that way in an automobile to look after some hogshead staves, says that on almost every road, if they would stop they would be asked if they were "looking for anything." Several youths and men said, "Mister, if you're looking for anything I think I can get it for you at a reasonable price."

That the moonshiners and bootleggers are "on to their job" is attested by one lawyer who had to meet a client down that way. The client asked him if he wanted some 'shine. He asked when he should go after it.

"Oh just come anytime, and a man will meet you on the road.

Investigation elicited the fact that a lookout is kept on a mtn. with a strong pair of field glasses. A car bringing a customer—or perhaps an officer—is spotted a mile or so up the road, and by the time it reaches a place previously agreed upon, a man is there with the "goods."

The statement was made in Richmond Wednesday that fully 200 gallons of moonshine whisky had been carried out of lower Madison into Clark and Fayette counties every week.

Some say the officers ought to catch them. But how are they going to do it? They have no authority to search every car that passes through Richmond. It is a hard job, any way you look at it, and the officers deserve great credit for what they do catch.

Judge W. R. Shackelford made welcome by Rev. W. A. Eisenhart, one of his famous anti-moonshine of Bowling Green, and a reception and luncheon at noon at the Pendleton club. At 2:30 o'clock there the other day, and he said this afternoon the laymen of the some things in his characteristic church in Kentucky were scheduled that everyone around ed to entertain at the Parish these parts knows are true. The house for the women delegates; Winchester Sun quoted him on his subject as follows:

Judge Shackelford stated that while Clark county probably was not as badly afflicted with moonshine stills as some other counties in his circuit—where he alleged the operators of home-grown outfitts for the manufacture of illicit liquor were producing a grade of manufactured article of such quality that they should be indicted for "stilling rot whisky, but poison"—he felt that some of contraband hooch was finding its way into this section.

The principal port of entry was, he said he understood, in Madison county in the Big Hill section where he had been informed on some occasions as many as 100 motor cars gathered to carry away cargoes of the "mountain dew" to points throughout Kentucky and even in some instances to points across the Ohio river.

Stating that in the majority of instances moonshining and concealed weapons go hand in hand,

LLOYD-GEORGE'S TRIUMPH

(By Associated Press)

London, Dec. 14—While ratification between Great Britain and Ireland was being urged by speakers in the House of Commons today, Prime Minister Lloyd George entered and was received with a storm of cheers. He was cheered again when he rose to speak on the agreement. He asserted that no agreement ever concluded between two peoples ever received so universal a welcome.

EXPECT HIGH PRICES AT OPENING SALE

The opening of the Home Tobacco warehouse here Thursday morning will undoubtedly draw a large crowd of spectators.

This is one of the few warehouses in the burley district to open for sales. The owners of this house would have sold to friends of the Association pool, they say, had overtures been made before their house was full of tobacco, and before they had agreed with those outside the pool to sell.

Tobacco men say that the weed on the floors here is first class tobacco. Top prices are expected. Full corps of buyers is expected and bidding is expected to be spirited. Association men say they hope that the prices paid will be the very top. They thus hope for high figures for the pooled tobacco, as the buyers will set the prices that the big manufacturers figure the crop this year is worth.

WOMEN MOBS BLOCK KANSAS MINE WORKERS

(By Associated Press)

Pittsburgh, Kan., Dec. 14—While state military authorities are mobilizing companies of national guardsmen for entrainment to Pittsburgh, today, the militant women of Kansas coal field, adherents of Alexander Howat, were engaged in the most ambitious campaign thus far attempted in their program of stopping by violence the operations of the coal mines by men who responded to the call of the international union for men to man the mines. Sheriff Gold is besieged by miners who want work and who sought protection from the hordes of women relatives and friends of the striking miners. The women for two days overwhelmed the workers and peace officers at the mine shafts, preventing the men going into the mines. Some they beat.

The sheriff himself was pummeled yesterday. The women were again active today. A thousand of them marched to one mine but except for beating one man, there was little violence. They came in a string of automobiles a mile long.

Directors To Elect Officers

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Dec. 14—The Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, said to be the largest cooperative marketing organization in the United States, began functioning today for 55,000 members, who control nearly 200,000,000 pounds of burley tobacco. The directors chosen in 22 districts Tuesday met here today to select a president and other officers.

BURLEY ASSOCIATION LEGAL ORGANIZATION

Directors From All Districts Elected Tuesday Meet Today To Begin Work

The Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, largest cooperative marketing organization in the world, becomes an actuality today with the organization of the Board of Directors from the twenty-two districts into which the burley territory of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky were divided several weeks ago by the elections committee. The directors, who will organize and begin business today, were elected at conventions held Tuesday, following primaries for the selection of delegates which were held Monday in every one of the 61 counties in the burley district.

Final reports show slightly that more than 55,000 tobacco growers have joined the association and that almost 200,000,000 pounds of tobacco have been signed up to the marketing plan for the next six years. Some idea of the magnitude of the association of farmers may be gained from the fact that their product, which will be marketed through the cooperative association, as needed by the manufacturers; and not by the old auction system, will be worth from $60,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually, depending on the size of the crop and the price the manufacturers pay for it.

Of the 150 warehouses in the burley district not more than half a dozen will open for the sale of tobacco; almost every warehouseman having been a booster of the new association, and it is the purpose of the organization to take over these warehouses or to lease them, if the owner does not desire to sell them.

PATROLMAN MAUPIN CAPTURES 'SHINE

Richmond's efficient policemen put over another good capture of moonshine whisky this week. Patrolman Wm. Maupin noticed a buggy making a delivery of goods to the home of Wm. Coates on Lyndon avenue, that seemed to be suspicious. He got busy, obtained a search warrant, and found eight gallons of shine, for which Mr. Coates could not give a satisfactory account. Judge G. Murray Smith in police court held Coates to await grand jury action in the sum of $300 bond which was furnished by his son, Collins Gilbert, colored, was also held to the grand jury under $300 bond on a charge of selling whisky.

AGED MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Ewing Thompson, aged about 78, stepped from one track to another on the L. & N. railroad near the Shops depot shortly after noon and sustained a fracture of the skull from which he died at a local hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Thompson is reported to have been seen walking up the track shortly before the train in charge of Conductor Evans became visible. He is thought to have mistaken the track the train was coming in on, and stepped right in front of it. He was not killed outright, but it was seen that he was seriously hurt, so he was rushed to the hospital. Every medical attention was given him but he died within a short time. He lived near the L. & N. crossing and was well known in the section of the city.

Buy a Book a Week

To increase the reading of good books the above slogan was adopted and has become nationalized. It's an admirable suggestion, a habit worthy of adoption, one that should give a wonderful impetus to the intelligence of the nation.

Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcases

Books call for bookcases—the Globe-Wernicke Sectional Case. But "a book a week" will require only one section every six or seven months, hence the importance of beginning right by getting the best.

The Globe-Wernicke Co. grows the timber from which its cases are made. Every bit of material is carefully selected. Special machinery has been designed for their manufacture. Every step in their construction, from tree to finished product is standardized and carefully supervised with the result that, the Globe-Wernicke is the best and most economical bookcase on the market.

Made in both oak and mahogany and in styles and finishes to suit surroundings.

Our Christmas stock includes an unusual assortment of these wonderful Book Cases, in oak and mahogany. We know we can offer you a price that will off-set any price on any other Book Case on the market.

We Want A Touchdown!

It was at the big football game. The game was going against the home team. The ball was way up the field away from the goal. The other team got all the lucky breaks. Just by way of encouragement the home gang began to shout, "We want a touchdown! We want a touchdown!"

A little pasty-faced doubter sitting in front row sniffed and remarked aloud, "What's the use? They'll never get it." And the multitude around him roared with one voice, "Aw, shut up!"

"That," said an elderly man who was among those present, "is exactly what ought to be done to every one who voices a doubt of the arms conference."

About the touchdown! Oh, the team got it, and the game,

Portland Plans For World's Fair In 1925

(By Associated Press)

Portland, Ore., Dec. 14—Portland has accomplished the first step in plans for the holding of a world's fair here in 1925—endorsement by the voters of a $2,000,000 tax levy to be spread over three years—and attention is now directed to the second effort in the financing of the project, approval by the people of the state of a $3,000,000 tax, which added to the amount Portland will raise and $1,000,000 to be obtained by public subscription will complete the financing.

Effort in Congress To Muzzle Press

Washington, Dec. 14—Opposition to the passage in its present form of the Walsh anti-gambling bill prohibiting publication of betting odds by newspapers, was expressed at the hearing today on the bill before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Senator Stanley, Democrat, of Kentucky, stated practically all New York newspapers and others in different part of the country desired to be heard in opposition to what he termed a restriction on the freedom of the press and of speech.

Breeders of blooded stock also have asked to be heard.

The bill "strikes deeply at the heart of news publication," Col. W. F. Wiley, general manager of the Cincinnati Enquirer, stated, in urging an opportunity for the newspapers to be heard in opposition. Newspapers, generally publish regularly reports on bank clearings and of stock and grain market quotations on prices, he said, all of which is made the basis of gambling, bets being settled on the published figures.

The logical extension of the prohibition, he said, would be legislation preventing publication of such information and also reports of murder and other crimes.

Senator Borah launched an attack in the Senate on the Four-power treaty negotiated by the disarmament conference.

Said Mrs. A., one of the over hearers: "They must have been to the zoo, because I heard them mention a 'trained deer'."

Said Mrs. B.: "No, no. They were talking about going away and she said to him, 'Find out about the train, dear.'"

Said Mrs. C.: "I think you are both wrong. It seemed to me they were talking about music, for she said 'A trained ear' very distinctly."

A few minutes later the lady herself appeared and they told her of their disagreement.

"Well," she laughed, "that's certainly funny. You are poor guessers, all of you. The fact is, I'd been out to the country over night, and I was asking my husband if it rained here last night."

TOO MUCH TOBACCO REDUCING FERTILITY

Annual Tobacco Crop of 500,000,
000 Pounds Is Heavy Drain
On Soils

Lexington, Dec. 14—Approximately $6,000,000 worth of plant food is removed from Kentucky farms when the 500,000,000 pounds of tobacco, which the state produces as an average annual crop, is placed on the market according to R. E. Stephenson, soil specialist at the College of Agriculture. This is probably one reason for the exhausted soils and low average crop yields in many sections of the state. Further destruction of the state's soil fertility without considerable expenses for commercial fertilizers can be prevented largely by careful use of the tobacco stalks which should be scattered over the fields, the specialist declares. The average yield of tobacco in Kentucky, which is about 800 pounds an acre, contains $8.20 worth of potassium and about 25 cents worth of phosphorous. The marketable leaf, therefore, removes nearly $10 worth of plant food from each acre of soil. From ten to five tons of farm manure would be required to replace the plant food removed from an acre of soil by an average tobacco crop. More than this amount would be required if the stalks were not returned.

In many cases, the average farmer either fails to spread the stalks on the fields or they are spread too thickly with the result that there is much waste of plant food, particularly nitrogen in order to get the most good from them, they should be used at the rate of not more than 600 to 1,000 pounds an acre.

"With the stalks from one acre containing plant food worth about $3.75, the total value of the stalks produced in the state reaches a value of more than $1,800,000 or an amount equal to one-half the value of fertilizers purchased in one year by Kentucky farmers. Careful use of these stalks, which are already on the farm, to eliminate the necessity of purchasing commercial fertilizers, which must be brought to the farm, is worthy of consideration from every farmer in the state."

FARM BOYS TO JOIN BABY BEEF CLUBS

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 14—Farm boys of Kentucky will have an opportunity to get an early start in the cattle feeding business by means of a project just being started in the state by the Junior Agricultural Club Department of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, according to an announcement by M. L. Hall, assistant state leader in Junior Agricultural club work.

Boys who enroll in the project will become members of "baby beef" clubs in their respective counties and be trained in the feeding and management of beef calves which are to be sold on the market, says the announcement. County agents in seven counties already have reported that they have enrolled a total of approximately 100 boys in the new project, Mr. Hall said. Plans are being made to enroll as many as possible during coming month.

Reports have been received from Boyle, Lincoln, Warren, Washington, Crittenden, Wayne, and Marion counties to the effect that clubs would be formed. Washington, Crittenden, Wayne, about 25 members; Marion, Lincoln and Boyle, 20 each, while the membership in the others has not yet been determined. Interested banks and commercial concerns are planning to co-operate in a number of counties to finance the purchase of animals which will be used by the children in the project, Mr. Hall said.

According to present plans each county club will feed a car load of calves. The car load will be made up of calves fed by individual members of the clubs, arrangements having been made for each boy to feed one or more calves. Purebred, grade or cross-bred calves will be used. The boys will have the animals under their care for about nine months.

Hocker—Nunnelley

Numerous friends and relatives here will read with interest the following from the Stanford Interior Journal, the bride being a granddaughter of Mrs. M. A. Phelps and very popular here. It says:

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hocker and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Nunnelley were surprised about noon Monday when they received messages telling them that Miss Mary Katherine Hocker and Mr. Rollin ert Nunnelley were married in Jeffersonville only a short time before. Miss Hocker came in to school as usual Monday morning but evidently changed her mind en route and fled away to Jeffersonville with the young man of her choice. The wires did not state when the happy couple would return, but it is more than probable that they will arrive this afternoon or tonight. They were accompanied by Mr. Thomas Beck, who "helped them on their way." The bride is the younger of the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hocker and is a characterful young woman. She is very popular and Mr. Nunnelley is not the only young man who has sought her hand. Mr. Nunnelley is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Nunnelley and is a prominent young business man, liked by a large circle of friends. Everybody is wishing them all the good luck imaginable and hoping that the little game they put over on their parents will be the beginning of the happiest married life in all Christendom. The Interior Journal man has known both of them since they were babies and having the best of feelings for them joins their many other friends in the hope that they will always have reason to look on their wedding day as the biggest and best of their lives.

PATRICK J. HALEY
Syracuse, N. Y.

"I'm feeling like a new man since Tanlac soothed and toned up my stomach and for the first time in forty years can eat a hearty meal and suffer no distress afterwards," was the remarkable statement of Patrick J. Haley, 107 Prospect ave., Syracuse, N. Y., a well known iron and steel worker.

"Only those who have had stomach trouble in a bad form can know what I suffered during all those years. I was almost a nervous wreck, too, and for years I didn't know what it was to get a good sound sleep at night.

I got new life and energy from every dose of Tanlac and now I'm a well and happy man instead of a sick and miserable one as I was for so many years. I'll vouch for the merit of Tanlac at any time."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son, and leading druggists.

When a Federal Bureau reminds you that children should not drink coffee or tea— Why not think of your own health?

The Federal Bureau of Education includes in its rules to promote health among the Nation's school children, the warning that children should not drink coffee or tea.

The reason is well known. Coffee and tea contain drugs which stimulate and often over-excite the nerves, and so upset health.

The harm is by no means confined to children, as any doctor can tell you.

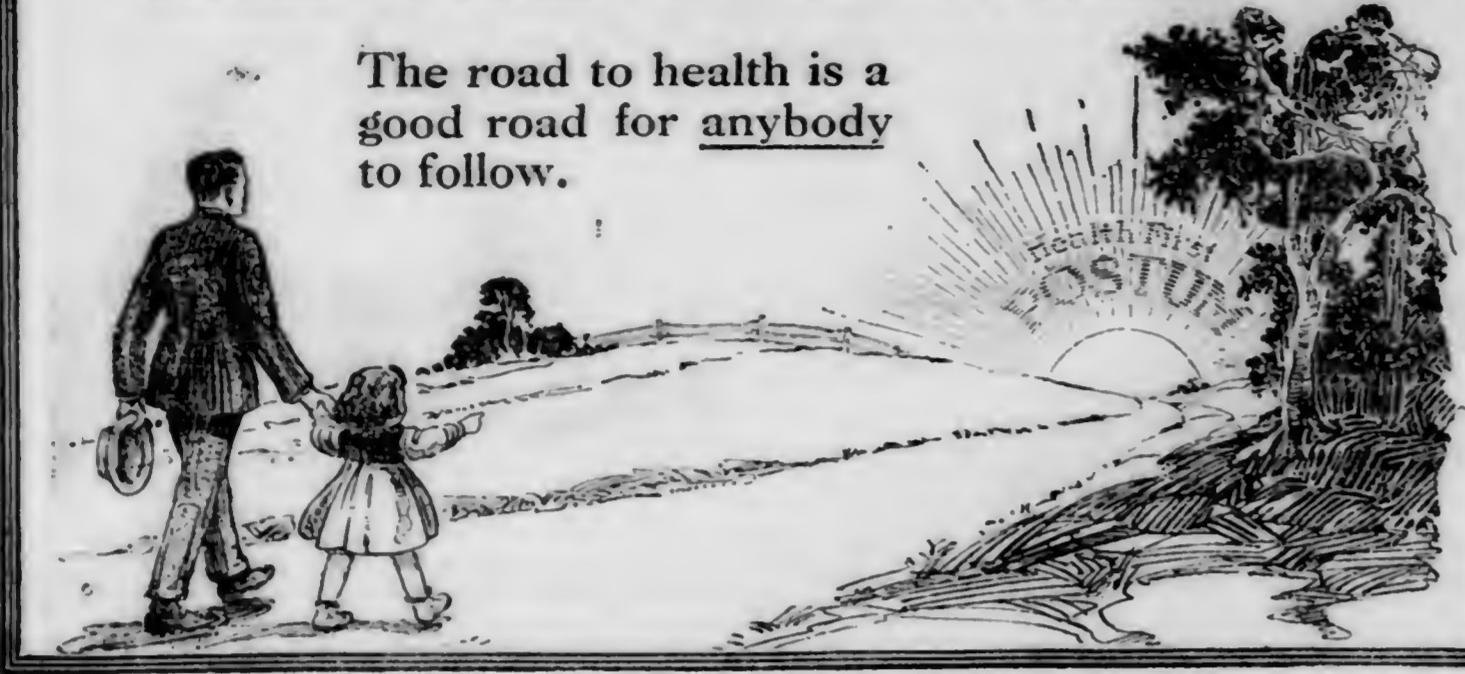

If health is valuable to childhood, it is valuable always. If harm to health should be avoided until bodies grow up, is it worth taking a chance with health when bodies have grown up?

You can have that delicious and satisfying cereal beverage, Postum, with any meal, and be safe—you, and the children, too. There's charm without harm in Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow.

BREATHITT RAIDERS HIDING IN PERRY

Jackson, Ky., Dec. 14.—Far back in the mountains of Perry county, Bud Noble, said to be wounded, and his two sons, Soldier and Beech, are believed to have found a haven of refuge from troops and posses hunting them as members of the band which attacked the Breathitt county jail and wounded four of the defenders, two fatally.

Bud Noble, the alleged leader and murderer, and his two sons have outwitted their pursuers. This much is granted. Where they are, they and their partisans alone know. But one of those rumors, which seem to come from nowhere yet gain credence in the mountains, says they are in an isolated and almost inaccessible part of the mountains on Grapevine Creek, two ridges and 25 miles away from the troops and posses of citizens and officers.

In the meantime, following the second death last night, that of Miss Bessie Allen, the grand jury heard witnesses today and will continue the investigation. Six or seven indictments probably will be returned. Several witnesses have been found who saw the Nobles and their adherents on their way home from Jackson the morning of the attack, authorities say.

W. P. Watts, Sam Grigsby, Tom Porter, Luther Noble, and Higgins Noble, held in jail here refuse to talk. Luther Noble did deny his guilt. The others will not say anything one way or the other.

Watts, Grigsby and Porter were seen riding with the Nobles in a direction leading from Jackson on the morning after the attack, according to witnesses. They were also seen in company with the Nobles the night before the grand jury was told. Watts has been identified by the defenders of the jail as a member of the raiding party.

LIGHTS CHANGE STAGE SCENES

Turn of Switch Transforms the Scenery, Costumes and Figures in London Theater.

WORKED OUT BY A RUSSIAN

M. Samoiloff Asserts He Is Merely Utilizing Harmony Between Light, Line and Color—Principles Are Not New.

London.—The wonders accomplished in transforming scenes, costumes and figures from one period of history to another by a mere change of lights on the stage of the Hippodrome has set all London talking. In a revue now playing there is a scene representing a very modern dame sitting by her lover in a frowning mountain pass. She sings, the echo answers and the audience is beguiled by the sweet sensuousness of the situation.

Then behind the scenes somebody does something and everything is altered in a flash. The grim mountains become a Hindu temple, the frowning rocks melt into sands and palms and the tall, slender young woman turns into a stout Indian matron. It has all been brought about by a change in light, by the manipulation of more than 100 different switches at the same moment, and the audience is carried back 3,000 years and from one continent to another. Every detail is transmogrified and the girl, who was clad conventionally in a yellow artificial silk blouse with blue facings and a rusted gold skirt, appears now with her bust draped in white, embroidered in black and brown, with her waist unbuttoned and her trousers-skirt pale cream with a graceful figured pattern.

Black Goes Everything.

An oriental scene follows, with the customary dances. Men and women in all the finery of the East enter and weave in and out in the maze of the ballet. The lover comes on, to all appearances robed in the loose white garments and the trousers of certain castes of Hindus. The action grows fast and furious; the heroine is threatened by rival; she runs to the hero for protection, and as he clasps her to his arms, some one throws those switches again.

Black goes everything to ...

... and in a very modern young man in a brown lounge suit of unexpected cut is seen embracing the young woman in the crowd of equally modernly dressed people.

To the Physicians of Richmond

SUSTO is the Only Vitamin Tonic Food Ever
O. K.'d by a World Famous Nutrition Expert

Dr. Philip B. Hawk is the Professor of Physiological Chemistry at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. He analyzed SUSTO, checked up its actions, scientifically tested its nutritive value and digestibility in normal human beings and therapeutic powers in numerous cases of Run-Down Conditions, Loss of Flesh, Anemia, Lack of Strength Convalescence, Malnutrition, Under Weight and Under Nourishment of men, women and children. After which he made a most favorable report, extracts from which we hereafter reprint.

This is the first time in history that a tonic reconstructive system has been offered to the public backed by the full approval of world-recognized scientific authority. It is the first time such a preparation has been ethically tested in every possible way before being placed on the market.

Here is what Dr. Hawk said concerning this test:

"In all cases of a general run-down system or in convalescence from such diseases as typhoid fever or influenza, SUSTO played a very important part in stimulating the appetite and causing increases in body weight."

"In practically every case the tonic or stimulating effect was apparent at the start of feeding and persisted."

"In every instance where under-nourished infants and children were given SUSTO, important body-weight increases were registered. A notable case is that of eleven who had been under weight for four years in spite of the best medical and dietary treatment. The feeding of SUSTO produced a pounds."

"SUSTO also caused normal adult persons to gain weight. One of our cases of normal young adults gained seven pounds in two months by the use of SUSTO."

"In no case did any patient object to the taste of SUSTO. In fact, one physician associated with us reports that one of his child patients now refuses to take any milk unless it contains SUSTO."

"Some individuals were found who could digest straight milk but who could handle milk with SUSTO very nicely."

"SUSTO as improved by us is an excellent nutritive tonic and growth-promoting therapeutic product. It should prove useful to all convalescents, to normal adults who wish to put on weight, to under-nourished children and adults, and to men, women and children in general who show signs of a run-down system."

It would be impossible to secure higher testimony as to the tonic food value of SUSTO.

SUSTO is rich in the Vitamines of Rice, Eggs, Milk, and Yeast—notably rich in Fat Soluble and Water Soluble Vitamines A, B, C, together with Beef Protein, Nuclein and Iron—and indicated for malnutrition and allied diseases.

Electrical Cheer

Electrical Gifts at Christmas time, as on all other gift occasions, are not baubles or trinkets for a day. They are lasting gifts which carry electrical cheer throughout the years. Keen joy, real enthusiasm and gratitude will radiate from grown-ups when they receive something electrical as surely and as strongly as from the children who are given electrical toys. For the recipients, Electrical Gifts will give Christmas day an added meaning and increase happiness, comfort, and convenience every time they are used. Then give Electrical gifts for Christmas. They answer the question, "What Shall I Give?" most satisfactorily.

There is something electrical for every member of the family at our store.

Blue Grass Seed Men Organize

Local blue grass seed men will be interested in the news that a Clark county committee, composed of R. P. Taylor, B. D. Goff and Joe S. Lindsey, was voted at a meeting of the blue grass seed growers of Clark county to get into communication with the seed men of all the counties which produce blue grass seed for the purpose of calling a meeting for the forming of an organization on January 10, in Winchester. The object of the meeting, which has been called, is the formation of a cooperative association for the handling of the blue grass seed crop of Kentucky. All blue grass seed producers are requested to get into communication with this committee.

BEND

James McKinney and son, author, spent the past week in the Bend hunting. They got a lot of rabbits and a few birds.

WOMAN LEGISLATOR FOR ROADS, SCHOOLS

(By Associated Press)

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 14.—Roads and schools will have a staunch champion in the Kentucky legislature at the session which opens in January, in the person of Mrs. Mary Elliott Flanery, of Cynthiaville, according to statements made by Mrs. Flanery when she came here recently to select her seat in the House of Representatives. Mrs. Flanery will be the first woman to sit in a Kentucky legislative house and is said to be the first woman elected to such a position south of the Mason and Dixon line.

Not only will Mrs. Flanery fight for roads and schools, but she has, as one of her aims, the removal of all statutory disabilities of women in the state.

Mrs. Flanery comes from one of the oldest families in the state and was identified with the history of Kentucky and Virginia for many generations. Her great grandfather was Colonel Richard Elliott, who was with Washington at the siege of York and a great grandfather was Benjamin Scott, also a Revolutionary War soldier. Her grandfather, Capt. John Leslie Elliott, emigrated from Virginia in the early days of the state, and according to Mrs. Flanery, Elliott county was named after him although Elliott's history of Kentucky states that the county was named for John John M. Elliott, who was lieutenant in Frankfort while a member of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, by a former who had his name changed after the name had rendered a bad omen.

Judge Elbert, Elliott's son, was a member of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, by a former who had his name changed after the name had rendered a bad omen.

Mrs. Flanery was born on the old Elliott homestead near Salt Creek, Elliott county. She was raised in Elliott and surrounding counties, getting her education in the common schools of the two counties and attending the State University for a period.

She was married on June 28, 1898, to W. H. Flanery, an attorney, and in 1905 they settled in Lexington. In 1912 they moved to Cynthiaville where they now live in the old home of Judge John M. Elliott which his widow presented to Mrs. Flanery.

Flanery is looking after her family—their three daughters are now 20. Mrs. Flanery has for years worked as society editor and feature writer for the Ashland Independent, because, she says, she likes the work. One of her daughters, Mrs. Dew Flanery, a Smith College graduate, is a society editor and feature writer for a Hagerstown, Maryland paper. Her other daughter is Mrs. Davis M. Howerton, wife of Davis M. Howerton, who was an assistant Attorney General under Governor Staney, and Mrs. Ida Leslie Parker, of Denver. Their son is John Elliott Flanery, aged 13, whose ambition past a present is to be one of the four pages of the House.

Mr. Flanery is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. One of the notable features of Mrs. Flanery's election is the fact that she was elected in a district that never before became democratic. WILL MAYS SETTLES
HEADLEY TAX SUIT

Lexington, Dec. 14.—In county court today the back tax suit brought by State Revenue Agent W. O. Mays against Hal Price Headley, son and executor of the late H. P. Headley, widely known turpentine and capitalist, for the collection of taxes on certain personal property consisting of stocks, bonds and notes, alleged to have been omitted from taxation, was finally settled. County Judge F. A. Bullock entering a judgment assessing for taxes for the year 1920 on five notes aggregating $100,000 and $5,000 worth of bonds for the year 1919 and 1920.

As a result of the settlement, the state will receive $880 in taxes, together with penalty and interest, amounting in all to approximately $1,200. The State Revenue Agent will receive 20 per cent penalty on the unpaid taxes, amounting to a little less than $200.

Attorneys Hunt, Northeutt and Bush represented Mr. Headley, while the interests of the State Revenue Agent were looked after by Attorney B. W. Gilliland, of Louisville, and of the Commonwealth by County Attorney Hogan Yancey.
